

IJP Editor's Report to the EAP Governing Board & AGM: March, 2021

Dear Colleagues, dear Friends,

We can report favourably on the progress of the International Journal of Psychotherapy, since our last report to the Board in October 2020. This report is also for the Annual General Meeting.

Since the poorly-designed and badly-executed “decision” in February 2019 – to cut the expenditure of the Journal by 20% (i.e. €5,000) – we have had to totally rebuild all the typesetting, printing and delivery production, away from Lviv & Budapest. This threw us (me) into some considerable disarray. I have already explained what happened next in my last report: all that turned what was something of a ‘difficulty’ virtually into a full-blown ‘crisis’. Anyway, enough of that!

Point 1: Back Issues

We had the next two issues – due in 2019 (Vol. 23, No. 2, July 2019 and Vol. 23, No. 3, Nov. 2019) – typeset, however – for totally unforeseen technical reasons – we could not print from these typeset versions, so we had to start all over again. We now have got the new “system” up and running – with typesetters in Bulgaria, producing an e-Journal, and also using a “Print-On-Demand World-wide” printers with depots in Britain, USA, Europe & Australia for any printed copies that we need. Both seem extremely professional, produce excellent work and are reliable – so far, anyway.

And so, the first three of the missing back issues – the two mentioned above and the one that comes next, Vol. 24, No. 1, Spring 2020 – have now been produced and we have had a few copies printed. One of these issues (Vol. 23, No. 3, Nov. 2019) was a Special Issue on “Transactional Analysis Psychotherapy”. We have apologised profusely to them and the European Association for Transactional Analysis (EATA) has ordered a number of these copies, which are about to be delivered.

All these three issues are now available to be down-loaded, free of charge, from the IJP website. We might also make them available through a link on the EAP website.

Point 2: Getting Up to Date

The July 2020 issue is currently in the process of finalising the typesetting, and – as soon as this is done (within days) – that will also be put up onto the IJP website as a “free” digital e-Journal. We will then need to get some copies printed – for our records and for the Library subscriptions, plus, some other copies for EAP organisations.

The next issue, Vol. 24, No. 3, Nov 2020 - a ‘Special Issue’ on Gestalt Psychotherapy has had all its articles peer-reviewed twice and then checked out for “good” English, syntax and punctuation. The articles have just been sent back to the ‘Special Issue’ editors, Peter Schulthess and Margherita Spagnuola Lobb, and they will now be communicating with their authors and we therefore should get these articles back by the end of March, and then that issue can go to the typesetters. It should be available in April 2021 – albeit a few months late. But, we are steadily getting much more up-to-date.

The final issue that still in the pipeline, is the first issue of our 25th year: This issue, Vol. 25, No. 1, Spring 2021 – the articles have all been peer-reviewed, twice, and the English edit and re-formatting has nearly been finalised, and so the authors now need to revise their articles and return them for typesetting. Again, we are now looking at weeks, rather than months.

I have to say that the “New Look” format and typesetting is making the Journal look much better than ever before, and the new printing arrangements, whereby copies are printed “on demand” and then dispatched by the printers to the recipients is infinitely easier and will be much more cost effective. So, whilst the process of change has been very difficult, painful and drawn-out, the end product will have almost certainly been well worth it.

A couple of design tweaks are still needed: (a) I have been persuaded – somewhat reluctantly – to use the ‘new-look’ EAP logo on the cover of the July 2020 issue. I am very clear that I much prefer the old logo, but then maybe I am a “fuddy-duddy, old square”: so be it: we will try it out and see what people think; (b) we are also getting a bit of the IJP logo redesigned, so that it will now read: “IJP Celebrating 25 years (1996-2021)”. This will replace the old bit (top right) of the website logo. So, the old logo (at the head of this report) is probably the last time it will be used.

Point 3: Going-On into the Future

In October 2020, at the Governing Board meeting, it was decided that all European-Wide Organisations (EWO/EWAOs) and National Organisations (NUO/NAOs), who pay for a subscription to the Journal, will get one printed copy of each issue and a digital copy that they can send out to all their members. The Ordinary Organisations and European Accredited Psychotherapy Training Institutes (EAPTIs) will get a digital copy that they can also send out to all their members: this will increase the distribution of the Journal to about 120,000. However, not all these new readers will speak English – so hopefully, we will get more articles in both English and their “mother-tongue”. We will start this new distribution system with the first published issue in 2021.

These 6 “new” issues will now form the basis of the new IJP Journal ‘Bank’ held with the “Print-On-Demand-Worldwide” company, so that any future orders for any printed copies can be made “on demand” – and then sent out directly by the printers. So, we don’t have to keep masses of back issue copies in someone’s office and then gradually post them out. The present stock of Back Issues – in Tom Ormay’s office will be shipped to a German ‘storage depot’ of PCS, the company that holds our Back Issues.

We are also looking at the possibility of two new ‘Special Issues’: one on “Psychotherapy with Special Client Groups” – refugees, children, people with special needs, people with psychiatric disorders (including NPD); and one possibly on “Appropriate Psychotherapy Research”.

Back Issue Availability

The volumes of this journal from Volume 9 (2005 onwards) have all been published by the IJP – the journal of the European Association of Psychotherapy (EAP) – independently of any main publisher.

These later volumes (Vol. 9 - 18), with 3 issues per volume, are mostly all still available as complete bound paper copies (at €15.00 per issue, inc. postage).

You can still order them via the IJP website: www.ijp.org.uk, or directly from Tom Ormay, IJP Office, 1072 Budapest, Nagydiofa u. 3. Hungary.
E-mail: tomormay@t-online.hu

All of these back-issues (Vol. 9 - 17) – and all the articles within them – are also available as immediate PDF downloads, via the IJP website: www.ijp.org.uk.

Costs are usually €12.00 per issue, or €3.00 per article.
Payment is via Paypal (also accepts credit cards); downloads are automatic.
